FLYING AT HOBBS FIELD

Well we all seem to be calling it the Aces field but lets take a minute to remember Mr. Paul Hobbs the original owner who so graciously has let us fly there and now to Mr. Glenn Martin who continues to honor what seems to be tradition. Hopefully we have been good stewards of the area and I think we have. But we need flyers. This year there seems to be a downturn in the number of flyers at the field. Even the “regular” flyers have been beset by “life” getting in the way of a passion. Personally I hope to get there more and more as my wife gets better and better. But I will say one thing the weather has not always been kind to us as flyers. There has of course been a number of rainy days which get extended for us as more rain means a field that’s primarily wet lands has a runway that’s not so kind to aircraft of many types. Tundra type aircraft excluded. Then there is the wind! Ah yes Mariah she is also known as. But even on windy days you might find Ronnie with his racing quad standing there looking at a TV screen whilst this 4 bladed thingamajig zips up and down the runway in a nose down attitude and doing a loop at the end of the run. It’s amazing. As for the rest of the flyers this seems to be the year of hunting for those bits of time where passions can be enjoyed without interrupting those larger segments of life that must be dealt with. Lets hope that July and August will provide more of those little bits of time linked together to turn them into patches of fun.

The plane pictured to the right is a Seb Art Design (mfg) called the Perfect Trainer. Seb Art is an Italian company that sells some very high tech and beautiful models from prop powered to turbine. This one is known as the “Perfect Trainer”. It flies very nicely on a 3 cell LiPo. I have this plane for sale for $200. Just add your battery and transmitter and your ready to fly.

THANK YOU RC ACES

I personally, as does my wife, thank all for the flowers and general concern expressed to myself and my wife as a result of her 2 week stay at Exeter Hospital. There were 3 different episodes the worst of which was #3 and the emergency surgery due to an ulcer. She says I'm a carrier. It has been a hard road toward recovery and we hope she will get there soon. All of your thoughts, wishes and prayers have been a big help.

Thank You!
